GUESTS: Charlie Moreno, consulting forester:
Holly Grossman

After noting and admiring a large snapping turtle, we walked most of the newly created road, paying particular attention to the proposed parking area; places where vehicles are, at present, able to get on to the road; and the state of the road itself, especially at wetland crossings and areas next to wetlands. Charlie Moreno explained some of the logic behind the road construction and made suggestions about what to have the Messengers (contractors working on the project) do when they are next out there.

Final recommendations will be made at the next regular meeting.

The meeting adjourned as rain started coming down at about noon.

Respectfully submitted,
John Wallace
